HONOR TO CARDINAL PICTURE OF NEW YORK

Laying of Corner Stone of Gibbons Memorial Hall.

ADDRESSES BY PRELATES

Impressive Ceremonies Yesterday Afternoon at Catholic University.

PROMINENT CLERGY PRESENT

Celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Cardinal Gibbons' Ordination to Priesthood.

In the presence of a gathering that included Cardinal Gibbons and the leaders ing the twenty-fifth anniversary of Cardinal Gibbons' elevation to the cardinalate ordination to the priesthood, was laid on vaguely to resemble the Hudson river. the campus of the Catholic University at Brookland yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The cardinal, in honor of whom the ceremony was held, was perhaps the most unostentatious person in the gath-

Weather a Theme for Cardinal.

The cardinal spoke from the high platform erected for the occasion, which presented a wealth of color reflected from the bright vestments of the members of the hierarchy. The fact that the sun was shining so brightly brought to the prelate's mind as he spoke the thought that when the university was first dedicated the day was especially dark and cloudy. The words came to him, and he remark-"They who sow in tears shall reap

At exactly 4 o'clock the bell in the tow-er of McMahon Hall struck the hour, and the long procession, headed by the carstarted down the steps for stand to be used by the speakers and special visitors. The colors of theology science, history, literature and other lines of human endeavor were conspicuous.

The procession wended its way, a section of the Marine Band playing, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." As the cardinal was about to ascend the steps of the platform the university choir, under Prof. Gabert, sang "Veni Creator."

Archbishop Farley's Address.

Archbishop Farley said that the idea of building a Catholic university first men and other times to bring about a entele.

He added that the cardinal, eighteen years later, with the approval of Pope Leo XIII, began the work. Then the dark days came, when the funds of the Will Devote Himself to Preparing op said, and there were those who ed that the institution might have to close its doors, but the power of the cardinal prevailed, and the university today, he declared, is in splendid shape.
"What a beautiful example is the life of Cardinal Gibbons," said Rev. Dr. Aiken, after the archbishop had closed.

AS SHOWN IN LONDON

American Flag Declared to Be Used Offensively in Music Hall Production.

LONDON, October 13 .-- As most American visitors to London know, ballets are a feature of the programs at the Empire Theater in Leicester Square. A new ballet was produced there Tuesday night. It is entitled New York. The scenario was the work of Col. Newhall Davis, a well known gastronome, whose assistance is, perhaps, more frequently enlisted by the proprietors of new restaurants than by managers of theaters, though in the latter domain he has several successes to h's credit

If the colonel has ever seen New York it must be assumed that when he was of the Catholic hierarchy in America, as doing the scenario for the new Empire well as the laity, the corner stone of ballet he relied more on his imagination the Gibbons Memorial Hall, commemorat-than on his memory. Nobody expects a ballet to be realistic, but in this case there is absolutely nothing suggestive of nal Gibbons' elevation to the cardinalate the greatest American city, except a sin-and the fiftieth anniversary of his gle policeman and a back cloth painted

"The use made of the American flag is more objectionable still. Its use is not decorative merely, but symbolical. It is meant to Americanize the whole business beyond all chance or choice of mistake, and to make certainty more certain it is dated on Independence day, the chief saint's day of the United States. The flag covers the cargo, it stamps the scene as American, and it is not America, nor anything like it. Nor, if you make American ags into breeches for large-hipped young women, does that add to its dignity. "I do not suggest that there was any purpose to insult or misuse the flag, but, whatever the purpose was, the effect is to debase it, and to offend American eyes and to put weird ideas into British heads and to provoke this American protest."

"American Exile" is understood to be George W. Smalley, who in New York used to be called "the squire," so English was he. He concludes by saying: "You may think us susceptible, and perhaps we are, but who is not susceptible when his national ensign is dragged in the dust, even in the dust of the music hall

Saving Their Clothes.

Prompting Health-giving Amusement

PIT HE Boys' Shop at the Palais Royal is to be known as the reliable shop. The cheap, shoddy Suits and other trashy garments are not to be here. A logical reason-they prove dear in the end.

The Palais Royal's Boys' Shop is to succeed because of best garments, small profits and big sales. To illustrate-twice the usual number of Suits and Reefers are to be sold here at $3.98, of the quality usual at $5.00.

At $5.00 are the famous "Sampeck Clothes"-that'll compare with the usual $6.00 to $7.00 garments. Sizes are from 6 to 18
